While leaving the theater, I overheard several sets of people discussing the various actions some of the characters took and what they, the viewers, might have done in their stead.. " The characters involved are making a good faith effort—but good faith efforts by humans can only go so far.. There are scheduling issues and various manifestations of pissiness between the teams that go up the mountains and prep climbing tools for their clients.

But in spite of the excellent technical work and the efforts of a first-rate cast, "Everest" did not exhilarate or scare me as much as leave me flatly sad.. He's a good-hearted bloke who's got a devoted team and a relatively diverse clientele.
